

Watersheds of the Eastshore Freshwater Habitat Society

Purpose of the Eastshore Freshwater Habitat Society

To Strive for the protection and assist in cooperation with ministries of wildlife, fisheries and conservation, in the remediation of all rivers, creeks, streams and lakes on the Eastshore that is a tributary to the Kootenay Lake.

The means of achieving our purpose will include the use of education, seminars, advertising, signage, forums to our volunteers, the general public and special interest groups. This will ensure responsible angling methods and wild life management, as well as, assist with data collection, recording and reporting of information collected to appropriate agencies of the Kootenay Lake drainage areas.
